

VVI740

Configuration cable for VVS700 series

Configuration cable

The configuration cable VVI740 enables the VVS700 series seismic detectors and the computer to communicate. A serial communication port, RS232, is required on your laptop. The cable is the only installation tool the installer needs when configuring the detector.

Standard Features

- One configuration cable for all installations

VVI740

Configuration cable for VVS700 series

Specifications

VVI740
Serial communication port	RS232

Ordering Information

Part No.	Description
VVI740	Configuration cable for VVS700 series